

Memorandum of Understanding

Between

The American Red Cross Cascades Region

and

Tillamook County

I. Purpose

The purpose of this Memorandum of Understanding ("MOU") is to define a working relationship between The American Red Cross Cascades Region (hereinafter "Red Cross") and Tillamook County, its agencies, counties, and municipalities (hereinafter "County"), in preparing for and responding to disasters. This MOU provides the broad framework for cooperation and support between the Red Cross and Tillamook County in assisting individuals and families who have been impacted by disaster and providing other humanitarian services.

II. Parties

A. Tillamook County

Its mission is to enhance the quality of life for its citizens by promoting and preserving public health and safety, maintaining a stable economy, encouraging the wise use of resources, and providing service in the most efficient and cost-effective manner possible.

B. Tillamook County Emergency Management

Tillamook County Emergency Management, a division of the Tillamook County Sheriff's Office, is governed by a wide range of laws, regulations, plans and policies. The program is coordinated by the Oregon Office of Emergency Management and receives its authority from Oregon Revised Statutes.

C. American Red Cross

1. Services for people affected by disasters

Founded in 1881, the American Red Cross is the nation's premier emergency response organization. As part of a worldwide movement that offers neutral and impartial humanitarian care, the American Red Cross is the community-based organization that mobilizes people to aid victims of disasters with the aim of preventing and relieving suffering. The Red Cross provides disaster services without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, gender, age, disability, sexual orientation, citizenship or veteran status. It follows the Fundamental Principles of the International Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement. The Red Cross is closely integrated into community response efforts, including the efforts of federal, state and local government and non-government organizations. Our goal is to work with all partners to lead a well-integrated, effective and efficient response to every disaster.

The Red Cross provides disaster services pursuant to its Bylaws and other internal policies and procedures as well as its Congressional Charter (USC 36 §300101-300111). In the Charter, Congress authorized the Red Cross "to carry out a system of national and international relief in time of peace, and apply that system in mitigating the suffering caused by pestilence, famine, fire, floods, and other great national calamities, and to devise and carry out measures for preventing those calamities."

Following a disaster, whether natural or human-made, the Red Cross will provide some or all of the following services:

Food, Shelter and Emergency Supplies

During a disaster, our first priority is to ensure that people have a safe place to stay, food, and emergency supplies. Red Cross works with government and community partners to open shelters where residents will find comfort with a hot meal, recovery information, and a place to rest. For emergency workers and people returning to their homes, the Red Cross mobilizes emergency response vehicles from which disaster workers distribute food, water, and essential clean-up items that might not be immediately available in the community

Welfare Information

Disasters often disrupt regular communication channels and can separate families. Through the Red Cross' nationwide network of chapters, family members may request welfare information regarding their loved ones. The Red Cross "Safe and Well" Web site enables people within a disaster area to let their families and friends outside of the affected region know that they are all right. Clients register on Safe and Well at www.redcross.org/safeandwell . During large-scale disasters, individuals without internet access can call 1-800-RED-CROSS to register.

Client Casework and Recovery Planning and Assistance

Red Cross provides individual client services through casework to people with disaster-related needs, with particular attention to those who have experienced significant damage or loss of their homes. This casework process helps the worker to assess the client's immediate needs, and connect the client with items, which may include and referrals to local resources and/or financial assistance to meet those needs. The caseworker also engages the client in a brief planning process which can help identify action steps for the client to follow in the first few days or weeks after a disaster. Red Cross caseworkers protect client confidentiality and work closely with other organizations and groups to ensure clients have access to all available resources.

Disaster Health and Mental Health Services

After an emergency, injuries can ensue, essential prescription medicines lost, and the shock and stress of sudden loss can overwhelm a person's normal coping skills. The Red Cross deploys licensed health and mental health professionals who are trained and equipped to provide assistance at the time of a disaster. Disaster health services professionals can provide emergency first aid and medical assessment, triage and replacement of emergency medications with item distribution, financial assistance or referrals to community partners. Disaster mental health professionals provide mental health assessments, crisis intervention and a sympathetic ear to those in need.

2. Services related to the National Response Framework

The American Red Cross is a co-lead for the mass care component of Emergency Support Function #6 of the National Response Framework. In this role, the Red Cross engages in a variety of activities to support states in their planning, coordinating and executing of mass care programs and strategies. The Red Cross also takes a leadership role in working with other non-governmental organizations and private companies that provide services during a disaster.

3. Organization

The American Red Cross is a single corporation, chartered by the United States Congress to provide humanitarian services. Its national headquarters, located in Washington, D.C., is responsible for implementing policies and procedures that govern Red Cross activities and provides administrative and technical oversight and guidance to the chartered units, which include chapters and blood services regions. Each chapter has certain authority and responsibility for carrying out Red Cross disaster preparedness and response activities, delivering local Red Cross services, and meeting corporate obligations within the territorial jurisdiction assigned to it. Each chapter is familiar with the hazards of the locality and surveys local resources for personnel, equipment, supplies, transportation, emergency communications, and facilities available for disaster relief. The chapter also formulates cooperative plans and procedures with local government agencies and private organizations for relief activities should a disaster occur.

Through its nationwide organization, the Red Cross coordinates its total resources for use in large disasters. In order to provide these services, the Red Cross may call on the Federal, state or local government for assistance when voluntary contributions are not sufficient to meet community needs.

III. Cooperative Actions

The Red Cross and the County will coordinate their respective disaster relief activities to maximize services to the community and avoid duplication of efforts in the following ways:

1. Maintain close coordination, liaison, and support at all levels with conferences, meetings, and other means of communication. Include a representative of the other party in appropriate committees, planning groups and task forces formed to mitigate, prepare for, respond to, and recover from disasters and other emergencies. Develop joint Standard Operating Procedures for notification of disaster and emergency situations.
2. During disasters and emergencies, keep each other informed of the human needs created by the events and the services they are providing. Share current data regarding disasters, to include statistical information, historical information, emerging needs and trends, damage assessments, among others, and disaster declarations, and service delivery.
3. During a disaster or emergency situation the Red Cross will, as appropriate at the request of the Tillamook County Emergency Management, provide liaison personnel to the County and any corresponding counties under the authority of the Tillamook County Emergency Management. The County will provide work space and, whenever possible, other required support, such as a computer, e-mail access and a designated phone line for the Red Cross liaison personnel assigned to the Emergency Operations Centers.
4. Tillamook County will support the Red Cross in the use of the American Red Cross National Shelter System (NSS) and the Red Cross will coordinate shelter information sharing and reporting with Tillamook County Emergency Management.
